

What are your credentials?

Don't be blasé about these. There are a whole lot of initials that can follow people's names that mean nothing, and a great many bogus institutions offering people "degrees" in every imaginable topic for a price. Before you hire anyone to teach you anything, ask about their credentials and find out what their credentials mean. Be aware that some credentials have more worth than others and make your decision accordingly.