

Does the business consultant, business trainer or business coach have an axe to grind?

For instance, she or he may be affiliated with or sponsored by a particular company. If so, the affiliation or sponsorship may slant the person's presentation in a way that's unacceptable to you or turn into a parade of products that you don't want to buy.